

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

FEDERAL AND STATE FOREST LAWS.

EXPLANATORY REMARKS.

Attention is particularly called to the fact that this bulletin is not prepared as a text-book. The legislation which comprises its subject-matter is likely to be extensively modified and added to in the near future; and the demand for information on forest law, caused by the imminence of such change, has necessitated the preparation of this bulletin without the completeness which is desirable in a work of this kind. The bulletin is meant especially to help the Federal and State officials who deal with forest questions, as well as that great body of laymen who wish to inform themselves generally concerning the status of forest legislation. By issuing supplements to this bulletin containing new Federal and State laws the publication can be kept abreast of legislative movement until a careful revision of the entire subject seems desirable.

The laws, and excerpts from them, are printed verbatim in most instances. The exceptions to this are of two classes: First, when any law has been definitely amended by later acts, it is written as thus amended, with the use of as few extra words as can possibly be made to fit the amending matter into its place. In such cases the nature of the revision and the exact method are indicated both in the marginal notes and in an appended explanatory note. Second, when a law or any part of it is evidently unimportant, or but slightly connected with forest questions, it is cited in a note, with brief suggestions of the nature and bearing of its contents. The reader who wishes to go into the matter more fully is referred to the original source of the law. Laws definitely repealed or evidently superseded have been omitted; but, when there is doubt whether one law supersedes another, both are printed and a note added explaining the reason for seeming duplication of statutory provision.

Besides the notes giving brief hints at the contents of cited acts, there are further notes, for cross reference, for explanation of references in the regular text, and for an occasional citation of a relevant court decision. There has been no effort, however, to include any considerable portion of the court rulings under these laws. As a help to finding decisions relating to the Federal forest laws, the reader is referred to the "Compilation of Public Timber Laws and Regulations and Decisions Thereunder, 1903," and to the "Compilation of Laws, and Regulations and Decisions Thereunder, Relating to the Establishment of Federal Forest Reserves, 1903," both of which pamphlets are published by the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

The reader will notice that, instead of the natural arrangement by political divisions, this bulletin is arranged according to subjects of importance to those interested in forestry, such as administration, forest trespass, forest fires, etc. This was done in the belief that it will facilitate the study of any one forest question, without materially delaying the discovery of any special law contained in this compilation.

The proceeds of such sales shall be set apart in a separate fund and used only for the purchase of lands in such parks. Resolved (if the assembly concur), that the foregoing amendment be referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election of senators, and in conformity with section one, of article fourteen of the constitution, be published for three months previous to the time of such election.

NOTE.—This proposed amendment passed the legislature in 1904 and will be referred to that of 1905. If it passes the second time, it will be referred to the people at the next general election.

COMPILED STATUTES, PAGE 1526. REVISED STATUTES.—Sec. 2458. The Secretary of the Navy is authorized, under the direction of the President, to cause such vacant and unappropriated lands of the United States as produce the live oak and red cedar timbers to be explored, and selection to be made of such tracts or portions thereof, where the principal growth is of either of such timbers, as in his judgment may be necessary to furnish for the navy a sufficient supply of the same. Live oak and cedar timber to be reserved for the Navy. Mar. 1, 1817, c. 22, s. 1, v. 3, p. 347; May 15, 1820, c. 138, v. 2, p. 607; Mar. 3, 1827, c. 94, s. 3, v. 4, p. 242.

Sec. 2459. The President is authorized to appoint surveyors of public lands, who shall perform the duties prescribed in the preceding section, and report to him the tracts by them selected, with the boundaries ascertained and accurately designated by actual survey or water courses; and the tracts of land thus selected with the approbation of the President shall be reserved, unless otherwise directed by law, from any future sale of the public lands, and be appropriated to the sole purpose of supplying timber for the navy of the United States; but nothing in this section contained shall be construed to prejudice the prior rights of any person claiming lands, which may be reserved in the manner herein provided. Reservations of live oak and red cedar land. Mar. 1, 1817, c. 22, s. 1, v. 3, p. 347.

Sec. 2460. The President is authorized to employ so much of the land and naval forces of the United States as may be necessary effectually to prevent the felling, cutting down, or other destruction of the timber of the United States in Florida, and to prevent the transportation or carrying away any such timber as may be already felled or cut down; and to take such other and further measures as may be deemed advisable for the preservation of the timber of the United States in Florida. Land and naval forces to be employed to prevent trespass. Feb. 23, 1822, c. 9, v. 3, p. 651.

NOTE.—Act of June 3, 1878, granting right to cut timber in mineral districts for certain purposes and providing against trespass by cutting for any purpose not permitted in the act, may be found on page 116 of this bulletin. June 3, 1878, c. 150, v. 20, p. 88.

Application for purchase.

Sec. 2. That any person desiring to avail himself of the provisions of this act shall file with the register of the proper district a written statement in duplicate, one of which is to be transmitted to the General Land Office, designating by legal subdivisions the particular tract of land he desires to purchase, setting forth that the same is unfit for cultivation, and valuable chiefly for its timber or stone; that it is uninhabited; contains no mining or other improvements, except for ditch or canal purposes, where any such do exist, save such as were made by or belong to the applicant, nor, as deponent verily believes, any valuable deposit of gold, silver, cinnabar, copper, or coal; that deponent has made no other application under this act; that he does not apply to purchase the same on speculation, but in good faith to appropriate it to his own exclusive use and benefit; and that he has not, directly or indirectly, made any agreement or contract, in any way or manner, with any person or persons whatsoever, by which the title which he might acquire from the government of the United States should inure, in whole or in part to the benefit of any person except himself; which statement must be verified by the oath of the applicant before the register or the receiver of the land-office within the district where the land is situated; and if any person taking such oath shall swear falsely in the premises, he shall be subject to all the pains and penalties of perjury, and shall forfeit the money which he may have paid for said lands, and all right and title to the same; and any grant or conveyance which he may have made, except in the hands of bona-fide purchasers, shall be null and void.

at the expense of such applicant, in a newspaper published nearest the location of the premises, for a like period of time; and after the expiration of said sixty days, if no adverse claim shall have been filed, the person desiring to purchase shall furnish to the register of the land-office satisfactory evidence, first, that said notice of the application prepared by the register as aforesaid was duly published in a newspaper as herein required; secondly, that the land is of the character contemplated in this act, unoccupied and without improvements, other than those excepted, either mining or agricultural, and that it apparently contains no valuable deposits of gold, silver, cinnabar, copper, or coal; and upon payment to the proper officer of the purchase-money of said land, together with the fees of the register and the receiver, as provided for in case of mining claims in the twelfth section of the act approved May tenth, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, the applicant may be permitted to enter said tract, and, on the transmission to the General Land Office of the papers and testimony in the case, a patent shall issue thereon: Provided, That any person having a valid claim to any portion of the land may object, in writing, to the issuance of a patent to lands so held by him, stating the nature of his claim thereto; and evidence shall be taken, and the merits of said objection shall be determined by the officers of the land-office, subject to appeal, as in other land cases. Effect shall be given to the foregoing provisions of this act by regulations to be prescribed by the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

COMPILED STATUTES, PAGE 1537.—Sec. 24. The President of the United States may, from time to time, set apart and reserve, in any state or territory having public lands bearing forests, in any part of the public lands wholly or in part covered with timber or undergrowth, whether of commercial value or not, as public reservations, and the President shall, by public proclamation, declare the establishment of such reservations and the limits thereof.

Establishment of Federal forest reserves. Mar. 3, 1891, c. 561, s. 24, v. 26, p. 1103.

NOTE.—Section 3 of the Act of August 4, 1892, chapter 375, extending the so-called timber and stone act to all public land states, provides that nothing in that chapter shall be construed to repeal Act of March 3, 1891, chapter 561, section 24. (The original forest reserve law, see above.)

COMPILED STATUTES, PAGE 1538.—Sec. 1. The forest reservations in the State of Colorado, known as the Pikes Peak Forest Reserve, the Plum Creek Forest Reserve, and the South Platte Forest Reserve, established by executive proclamation dated, respectively, March 18, 1892, June 23, 1892, and December 9, 1892, in the State of Colorado in accordance with section 24 of the act of March 3, 1891, from and after the passage of this Act, shall be open to the location of mining claims thereon for gold, silver, and cinnabar, and title to such mining claims may be acquired in the same manner as it may be acquired to mining claims upon the other mineral lands of the United States for such purposes: Provided, That all locations for mining claims heretofore made in good faith within said

on use of timber.

Sec. 2. Owners of valid mining locations made and held in good faith under the terms of this Act shall be, and are hereby, authorized and permitted to fell and remove from such mining claims any timber growing thereon, for actual mining purposes in connection with the particular claim from which the timber is felled or removed, but no other timber shall be felled or removed from any other portions of said reservations by private parties for any purpose whatever.

NOTE.—Timber, cut from a mining claim under the above act, may perhaps, as decided for homesteads in Shiver v. United States, 159 U. S. 491, be exchanged for timber or lumber to be applied direct to improvements on the claim, but may not be sold even to raise money with which to make such improvements. NOTE.—See also act of March 3, 1890, on page 23 of this bulletin.

All public lands heretofore designated and reserved by the President of the United States under the provisions of the Act approved March 3, 1891, the orders for which shall be and remain in full force and effect, unsuspended and unrevoked, and all public lands that may hereafter be set aside and reserved as public forest reserves, under said Act, shall be as far as practicable controlled and administered in accordance with the following provisions:

Mar. 3, 1891, c. 561, s. 24, v. 26, p. 1103.

No public forest reservation shall be established, except to improve and protect the forest within the reservation, or for the purpose of securing favorable conditions of water flows, and to furnish a continuous supply of timber for the use and necessities of citizens of the United States; but it is not the purpose or intent of these provisions, or of the Act providing for such reservations, to authorize the inclusion therein of lands more valuable for the mineral therein, or for agricultural purposes, than for forest purposes.

Purpose of forest reserves.

The Secretary of the Interior shall make provisions for the protection against destruction by fire and depredations upon the public forests and forest reservations which may have been set aside or which may be hereafter set aside under the said Act of March 3, 1891, and which may be continued; and he may make such rules and regulations, and establish such service as will insure the objects of such reservations, namely, to regulate their occupancy and use and to preserve the forests thereon from destruction; and any violation of the provisions of this Act or such rules and regulations, shall be punished as is provided for in the Act of June 4, 1888, amending section 5388 of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

NOTE.—For Act June 4, 1888, see page 118 of this bulletin.

For the purpose of preserving the living and growing timber and promoting the younger growth on forest reservations, the Secretary of the Interior, under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe, may cause to be designated and appraised so much of the dead, matured, or large growth of trees found upon such forest reservations as may be compatible with the utilization of the forests thereon, and may sell the same for not less than the appraised value in such quantities to each purchaser as he shall prescribe, to be used in the State or Territory in which such timber reservation may be situated, respectively, but not for export therefrom. "Before such sale shall take place, notice thereof shall be given by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, for not less than thirty days, by publication in one or more newspapers of general circulation, as he may deem necessary, in the

Such timber, before being sold, shall be marked and designated, and shall be cut and removed under the supervision of some person appointed for that purpose by the Secretary of the Interior, not interested in the purchase or removal of such timber nor in the employment of the purchaser thereof. Such supervisor shall make report in writing to the Commissioner of the General Land Office and to the receiver in the land office in which such reservation shall be located of his doings in the premises.

NOTE.—For California, notice of sale remains as formerly in Act of June 4, 1897, vol. 30, Stat. at Large, p. 35, which reads as follows: "Before such sale shall take place, notice thereof shall be given by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, for not less than sixty days, by publication in a newspaper of general circulation, published in the county in which the timber is situated, if any is therein published, and if not, then in a newspaper of general circulation published nearest to the reservation, and also in a newspaper of general circulation published at the capital of the State or Territory where such reservation exists."

The words in quotation marks above have been omitted on page 19 of this bulletin and the words in quotation marks beginning on that page have been substituted for them. This substituted portion has been taken verbatim from the amending act except that words in brackets on page 20 have been interpolated for clearness, and where stars appear on the same page the words "of this Act" have been omitted.

The Secretary of the Interior may permit, under regulations to be prescribed by him, the use of timber and stone found upon such reservations, free of charge, by bona fide settlers, miners, residents, and prospectors for minerals, for firewood, fencings, buildings, mining, prospecting, and other domestic purposes, as may be needed by such persons for such purposes; such timber to be used within the State or Territory, respectively, where such reservations may be located.

Nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting the egress or ingress of actual settlers residing within the boundaries of such reservations, or from crossing the same to and from their property or homes; and such wagon roads and other improvements may be constructed thereon as may be necessary to reach their homes and to utilize their property under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior. Nor shall anything herein prohibit any person from entering upon such forest reservations for all proper and lawful purposes, including that of prospecting, locating, and developing the mineral resources thereof: Provided, That such persons comply with the rules and regulations covering such forest reservations.

Egress and ingress of settlers within forest reserves.

Prospecting and proper and lawful acts permitted.

In cases in which a tract covered by an unperfected bona fide claim or by a patent is included within the limits of a public forest reservation, the settler or owner thereof may, if he desires to do so, relinquish the tract to the Government, and may select in lieu thereof a tract of vacant [, surveyed, nonmineral public lands which are subject to homestead entry, not exceeding in area the tract covered by such claim or patent: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect the rights of those who, previous to October first, nineteen hundred, shall have delivered to the United States deeds for lands within forest reservations and make application for specific tracts of land in lieu thereof]; and no charge shall be made in such cases for making the entry of record or issuing the patent to cover the tract selected: Provided further, That in cases of unperfected claims the requirements of the laws respecting settlement, residence, improvements, and so forth, are complied with on the new claims, credit being allowed for the time spent on the relinquished claims.

Lieu selection.

As amended by act of June 6, 1900, c. 802, v. 31, p. 614, which was reenacted in act of Mar. 3, 1901, c. 831, v. 31, p. 1037.

Unperfected claims.

NOTE.—That portion of the above paragraph contained in brackets is taken directly from the Act of June 6, 1900, 30 Stat. at Large, 36, and displaces from the Act of June 4, 1897, the following words: "land open to settlement exceeding in area the tract covered by his claim or patent."

The settlers residing within the exterior boundaries of such forest reservations, or in the vicinity thereof, may maintain schools and churches within such reservations, and for that purpose may occupy any part of the said forest reservation, not exceeding two acres for each school house and one acre for a church.

Schools and churches.

The jurisdiction, both civil and criminal, over persons within such reservation shall not be affected or changed by reason of the existence of such reservations, except so far as the punishment of offenses against the United States therein is concerned; the intent and meaning of this provision being that the State wherein any such reservation is situated shall not, by reason of the establishment thereof, lose its jurisdiction, nor the inhabitants thereof their rights and privileges as citizens, or be absolved from their duties as citizens of the State.

Civil and criminal jurisdiction.

public domain.

Upon the recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior, with the approval of the President, after sixty days' notice thereof, published in two papers of general circulation in the State or Territory wherein any forest reservation is situated, and near the said reservation, any public lands embraced within the limits of any forest reservation which, after due examination by personal inspection of a competent person appointed for that purpose by the Secretary of the Interior, shall be found better adapted for mining or for agricultural purposes than for forest usage, may be restored to the public domain. And any mineral lands in any forest reservation which have been or which may be shown to be such, and subject to entry under the existing mining laws of the United States and the rules and regulations applying thereto, shall continue to be subject to such location and entry, notwithstanding any provisions herein contained.

NOTE 1.—The rules and regulations for the administration of the forest reservations, made by the Department of the Interior, in pursuance of the above act and other acts, together with decisions of the Attorney General construing the same, may be found in a pamphlet of the General Land Office, entitled "Compilation of Laws, and Regulations and Decisions thereunder, relating to the establishment of Federal Forest Reserves. part thereof, for the sole benefit of such Indians; and he may also in like manner authorize the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota who have any interest or right in the proceeds derived from the sales of ceded Indian lands or the timber growing thereon, whereof the fee is still in the United States, to fell, cut, remove, sell or otherwise dispose of the dead timber, standing or fallen, on such ceded land. But whenever there is reason to believe that such dead timber in either case has been killed, burned, girdled, or otherwise injured for the purpose of securing its sale under this Act, then in that case such authority shall not be granted."

NOTE 5.—Act of July 1, 1898, provides that "the right is hereby granted to cut timber for mining and domestic purposes, at such prices and subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior, from that portion of the Colville Indian Reservation in the State of Washington which was vacated and restored to the public domain by the Act of July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, entitled 'An Act to provide for the opening of a part of the Colville Reservation in the State of Washington and for other purposes,' and the net proceeds arising from the disposition of said timber shall be set apart and disposed of according to the provisions of section two of said Act of July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, but primarily the expense incident to disposing of said timber, including compensation of such special agent as the Secretary of the Interior shall appoint, shall be paid out of any existing appropriation for the survey and allotment of said lands and shall be reimbursed and replaced from the proceeds arising from the disposition of the timber."

COMPILED STATUTES, PAGE 1543.—Hereafter, all standard, meander, township, and section lines of the public lands surveys shall, as heretofore, be established under the direction and supervision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, whether the lands to be surveyed are within or without reservations, except that where the exterior boundaries of public forest reservations are required to be coincident with standard, township, or section lines such boundaries may, if not previously established in the ordinary course of the public land surveys, be established and marked under the supervision of the Director of the United States Geological Survey whenever necessary to complete the survey of such exterior boundaries.

Boundaries of forest reserves to be determined by Commissioner of the General Land Office. Mar. 3, 1899, c. 424, v. 30, p. 1097. But Director of Geological Survey must first determine standard, township, and section lines.

NOTE.—This act supersedes so little of the provisions for surveying, etc., quoted above on page 18 of this bulletin, in the first paragraphs, under Act of June 4, 1897, that it is given here separately instead of being incorporated in that law by methods of revision.

COMPILED STATUTES, PAGE 1533.—Sec. 11. The Secretary of the Interior, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, may cause to be appraised the timber or any part thereof upon public lands in the district of Alaska, and may from time to time sell so much thereof as he may deem proper for not less than the appraised value thereof, in such quantities to each purchaser as he shall prescribe, to be used in the district of Alaska, but not for export therefrom. And such sales shall at all times be limited to actual necessities for consumption of the District from year to year, and payments for such timber shall be made to the receiver of public moneys of the local land office of the land district in which said timber may be sold, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe, and the moneys

The Secretary of the Interior may permit, under regulations to be prescribed by him, the use of timber found upon the public lands in the said district of Alaska by actual settlers, residents, individual miners, and prospectors for minerals, for firewood, fencing, buildings, mining, prospecting, and for domestic purposes, as may actually be needed by such persons for such purposes.

RESOLVES OF 1903, CHAPTER 102.—Whereas certain permanent and summer residents of this state have taken steps to memorialize Congress for the establishment of a national forest reserve in the White Mountain region; and White Mountain Forest Reserve.

Whereas the establishment of such a reserve would perpetuate valuable forest growths and forever preserve the headwaters of several important streams and thus benefit the commerce, industry and agriculture of all the New England states save one; and

Whereas the White Mountain region is of increasing importance as a pleasure resort to fully one-quarter of the entire population of the country who reside within easy reach of it, Therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

That the legislature of Maine hereby expresses its approval of the proposition to establish a White Mountain national forest reserve.

That the consent of the State of Maine be and is hereby given to the acquisition by the United States by purchase, gift or condemnation according to law of such lands in this state as in the opinion of the federal government may be needed for the establishment of a national forest reserve in the White Mountain region.

That power is hereby conferred upon Congress to pass such laws as it may deem necessary to the acquisition of lands in this state for the purposes of such a national forest reserve.

That power is hereby conferred upon Congress to pass such laws and make, and provide for the making of such rules and regulations of both civil and criminal nature and provide punishment for the violation thereof, as in its judgment, may be necessary for the management, control and protection of such lands as may from time to time be acquired by the United States under the provisions of this joint resolution; provided, that the State of Maine shall retain a concurrent jurisdiction with the United States in and over such lands so far that civil process in all cases and such criminal process as may issue under the authority of the state against any person charged with the commission of crime without or within said jurisdiction, may be executed therein in like manner as if this joint resolution had not been passed.

That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this state are hereby requested to urge upon Congress the importance of prompt and favorable action on behalf of the proposition to establish a White Mountain national forest reserve.

NOTE.—Act of Aug. 3, 1892, (27 U. S. Stat. at Large, page 347) provides that a certain definite area of Government land, about 22,400 acres, in northern Minnesota at the head of the Mississippi River shall be forever granted to the State of Minnesota to be perpetually used as a public State park and to revert to the United States, if not so used.

Statutes of Minnesota, Sec. 4058 formally accepts the grant under the conditions imposed.

Laws of 1895, Chap. 106, provides that the above tract of land shall be set aside perpetually as a State park to be known as the Itasca State Park, the care of which, until otherwise provided, shall be in the hands of the State Land Commissioner, and that trespass should consist of destruction of trees or plants of any kind, hunting, fishing without permit, raising or lowering the level of the lakes or streams and setting fires, such trespass to be a misdemeanor with fines for first and second offence and fine and imprisonment for further offences. It provides that the State shall buy in school lands for this park. Sec. 6 provides for appointment, by the governor, of a park commissioner, who shall live in the park, care for it and report annually to the governor, at a compensation of $600 per annum with the right to use a house to be erected for him and twenty acres of agricultural land and dead and down timber for fuel, and the further right to entertain visitors in the park at a rate of charge to be approved by the governor. Sec. 8 appropriates annually the $600 salary and $1,000 to erect building suitable for the accommodation of the Park Commissioner. Further appropriations for improvements have been made from time to time.

By Laws of 1901, Chap. 134, and 1903, Chap. 218, there is provision for enlarging the Itasca State Park by addition of certain state lands.

Laws of 1899, Chap. 304 appropriates $20,000 for the purpose of condemning and paying for private holdings within the limits of Itasca State Park.

Laws of 1903, Chap. 258, makes it a felony to haul or move logs or timber within the outer limits of Itasca State Park or to place them in any lake or stream therein. The policy of keeping the park in a state of nature is definitely stated. Sec. 2 provides as a penalty, fine ($1,000 to $5,000) or imprisonment (three months to one year) or both.

NOTE 2.—The Interstate Park of the Dalles of the St. Croix River, although to a great extent wooded, is not in the nature of a forest reservation, and the law creating it (Laws of 1895, Chap. 139) is therefore not inserted. See also Wisconsin, below.

moneys received by him in his office. The commissioner and deputy commissioner shall take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office. The deputy commissioner may be removed by the commissioner, who may in like manner appoint a successor. The terms of office of the commissioners of forest, fish and game now in office shall terminate upon the appointment of and qualification of such commissioner.

NOTE.—Sec. 2 provides for the appointment of two deputy commissioners, which official positions should cease to exist on January 1, 1903. Hence, since January 1, 1903, the forest, fish and game commission has consisted of one member only and Sec. 2 has ceased to be operative as law.

Sec. 3. The terms of office of the members of the forest preserve board now in office shall cease and determine within ten days after the passage of this act, and the powers, duties and functions now by law exercised by and imposed on them are hereby granted to and vested in the forest, fish and game commission as provided for by this act. The governor may in his discretion, after January 1, 1903, from time to time designate two commissioners of the land office, who shall act with the forest, fish and game commissioner in acquiring lands for the state under said act. If so designated, such commissioners of the land office and the forest, fish and game commissioner shall, while such designations are in force constitute a board who shall have the same powers to acquire lands under said act, that are now possessed by the forest preserve board. Lands shall not be purchased or acquired under chapter 220 of the laws of 1897, and the acts amending the same and supplemental thereto, except with the consent of the governor.

Sec. 4. A bill for services of counsel and attorneys, employed by the forest, fish and game commission, shall not be audited, allowed or paid except upon the written approval of the governor.

Sec. 5. This act shall not affect any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, pending at the time of the taking effect thereof, but such action or proceeding may be prosecuted or defended in the same manner and with the same effect as if this act had not been passed.

NOTE 1.—This act went into effect March 12, 1901.

NOTE 2.—This act gives to the forest, fish and game commission all the powers of the forest preserve board. Hence the laws defining the powers of that board are inserted next in order.

CUMMING AND GILBERT'S ANN. GENERAL LAWS, PAGE 1521.—
Sec. 1. [This section, establishing the forest preserve board, is superseded by section 3, Cumming and Gilbert's General Laws, page 1517, quoted immediately above.]

Sec. 2.—It shall be the duty of the forest preserve board and it is hereby authorized to acquire for the state, by purchase or otherwise, lands, structures or waters or such portion thereof in the territory embraced in the Adirondack park, as defined and limited by the fisheries, game and forest law, as it may deem advisable for the interests of the state.

Sec. 3. The forest preserve board may enter and take possession of any land, structures and waters in the territory embraced in the Adirondack park, the appropriation of which, in its judgment, shall be necessary for the purposes specified in section 290, of the fisheries, game and forest law, and in section seven of Article seven of the Constitution.

NOTE 1—"Section 290" in above paragraph refers to chapter 395, Laws of 1895, which is now section 217, of Chap 31, General Laws.

NOTE 2.—Sections 4, 5 and 6 contain provisions relating to the manner of conducting condemnation proceedings for Adirondack park purposes, and are not of forestal interest.

- Option to owner of condemned land. Sec. 7. The owner of land to be taken under this act, may at his option, within the limitations hereinafter prescribed, reserve the spruce timber thereon ten inches or more in diameter at a height of three feet above the ground. Such option must be exercised within six months after the service upon him of a notice of the appropriation of such land by the forest preserve board, by serving upon such board a written notice that he elects to reserve the spruce timber thereon. If such a notice be not served by the owner within the time above specified, he shall be deemed to have waived his right to such reservation, and such timber shall thereupon become and be the property of the state. Land acquired by purchase may be taken subject to the reservation of the soft timber thereon down to eight inches diameter on the stump with the right to remove the same, or subject to any lease, mortgage or other incumbrance not extending ten years beyond date of purchase upon agreement between the board and the owner. The amount or value of any such lien, incumbrance or timber right upon land so purchased shall be deducted from the purchase price thereof. The presentation of a claim to the court of claims before the service of a notice of reservation shall be deemed a waiver of the right to such reservation.
- May reserve spruce timber.
- Written notice of option.
- Land acquired by purchase.
- Deductions from purchase price.
- Conditions. Sec. 8. The reservation of timber and the manner of exercising and consummating such right are subject to the following restrictions, limitations and conditions:
- Timber near lake or river. 1. The reservation does not include or affect timber within twenty rods of lake, pond or river and such timber cannot be reserved. Roads may be built across or through such reserved space of twenty rods under the supervision of the forest preserve board, for the purpose of removing spruce timber from adjoining land, and the reservation of spruce timber within such space shall be deemed a reservation by the owner, his assignee or representative, of the right to cut other timber necessary in constructing such road, but such reservation does not confer a right to remove such other timber so cut, or to use it otherwise than in constructing a road.
- Fifteen years only, allowed. 2. The timber reserved must be removed from the land within fifteen years after the service of notice of reservation, or the making of an agreement, subject to the regulations to be prescribed by the forest preserve board; but such land shall not be cut over more than once and the said board may prescribe regulations for the purpose of enforcing this limitation. All timber reserved and not removed from the land within such time shall thereupon become and be the property of the state, and all the title and claim thereto by the original owner, his assigns or representatives, shall thereupon be deemed abandoned.
- Land may not be cut over twice.

Sec. 9. A person who reserves timber as herein provided is not entitled to any compensation for the value of his land purchased or taken and appropriated by the state, nor for any damage caused thereby, until: Purchase price withheld.

1. The timber so reserved is all removed and the object of the reservation fully consummated; or Until timber is removed.

2. The time limited for the removal of such timber has fully elapsed, or the right to remove any more timber is waived by a written instrument filed with the forest preserve board; and Until time limit has elapsed.

3. The forest preserve board is satisfied that no trespass on state lands has been committed by such owner or his assigns or representatives; that no timber or other property of the state not so reserved has been taken, removed, destroyed or injured by him or them, and that a cause of action in behalf of the state does not exist against him or them for any alleged trespass or other injury to the property or interests of the state; and No trespass allowed.

4. That the owner, his assignee or other representative has fully complied with all rules, regulations and requirements of the forest preserve board concerning the use of streams or other property of the state for the purpose of removing such timber. Rules must be obeyed.

Provided, however, that the forest preserve board may at any time by its certificate filed with the comptroller direct the payment to the owner of such land, his legal representatives or assigns, of the compensation therefor, or a part thereof, at such time and upon such conditions as may be set forth in the certificate. Board may direct payment.

Sec. 10. A warrant shall not be drawn by the comptroller for the amount of compensation agreed upon between the owner and the forest preserve board, nor for the amount of a judgment rendered by the court of claims, until a further certificate by the board is filed with him to the effect that the owner has not reserved any timber, or that he, his assignee or other representative, has complied with the provisions of this act, or has otherwise become entitled to receive the amount of the purchase price, award or judgment. Warrant for payment.

Sec. 11. The forest preserve board may settle and adjust any claim for damages due the state on account of any trespasses or other injuries to property or interests of the state, or penalties incurred by reason of such trespass or otherwise, and the amount of such damages or penalties so adjusted shall be deducted from the original compensation agreed to be paid for the land, or from damages, or from a judgment rendered by the court of claims on account of the appropriation of such lands. A judgment recovered by the state for such trespass, or for a penalty, shall likewise be deducted from the amount of such compensation or judgment. Settling claims.

Sec. 13. Persons entitled to cut and remove timber under this act may use streams or other waters belonging to the state within the forest preserve for the purpose of removing such timber, under Use of waters.

such regulations and conditions as may be prescribed by the forest preserve board. The persons using such waters shall be liable for all damages caused by such use.

Value of timber. Sec. 14. If timber be reserved, its value at the time of making an agreement between the owner and the forest preserve board for the value of the land so appropriated and the damages caused thereby, or at the time of the presentation to the court of claims of a claim for such value and damages, shall be taken into consideration in determining the consideration to be awarded to the owner on account of such appropriation either by such agreement or by the judgment rendered upon such a claim.

Inspectors. Sec. 15. The forest preserve board may appoint inspectors to examine the lands upon which timber is removed and ascertain and report to the board, from time to time, or whenever required, whether such timber is being removed in accordance with the provisions of this act, whether any trespasses or other violations of this act are being committed, and whether the persons entitled to the use of such waters for the purpose of removing timber have complied with the regulations and conditions relating thereto, prescribed or imposed by the board.

Compensation. Sec. 16. The forest preserve board shall fix the compensation of all clerks, inspectors or other assistants employed by it, which compensation shall be paid by the treasurer upon the certificate of the board and the audit and warrant of the comptroller. A person so appointed may be removed at the pleasure of the board.

Practice. Sec. 17. [This section, as well as sections 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, refer to the practice in the court of claims and elsewhere in regard to condemnation and awarding of compensation for lands taken by the forest preserve board. Not being of a forestal character, they have been omitted.]

Limitations of power. Sec. 23. The power to appropriate real property vested in the forest preserve board by section four, is subject to the following limitations: Such real property must adjoin land already owned or appropriated by the state at the time the description and certificate are filed in the office of the secretary of state, except that timber lands not so adjoining state land may be appropriated whenever in the judgment of the board timber thereon other than spruce, pine or hemlock is being cut or removed to the detriment of the forests, or the interests of the state.

Appropriations. Sec. 24. [Makes an appropriation of $600,000 and authorizes the issue of bonds. Additional appropriations have subsequently been made from time to time, that of 1904 for the Adirondack Park being $250,000 and $50,000 for the Catskill Park.]

Sec. 1717. Nothing in the last section authorizes the recovery of more than the just value of the timber taken from uncultivated woodland, for the repair of a public highway or bridge upon the land, or adjoining it. Timber for roads. Single damages.

Amendatory
act of July 1,

30, p. 618.

NOTE 1.—The amending acts of March 3, 1891, chap. 559, February 13, 1893, and March 3, 1901, merely added other States and Territories to those already mentioned in sec. 8 of act of March 3, 1891, quoted above. These new names are inserted in the body of the law. It is this act of March 3, 1891, sec. 8, as amended, that gives the "free use of timber" right on lands which are non-mineral and non-reserve.

NOTE 2.—The amending act of July 1, 1898, has been incorporated in the above section practically verbatim as a proviso. The words "Provided" and "this section" have been interpolated for clearness and where the stars appear the words "the eighth section of act of March 3, 1891," have been omitted for the same reason.

NOTE 3.—By the act of March 3, 1901, (Compiled Statutes, page 1534), it is further enacted, that the above provisions "limiting the use of timber taken from public lands to residents of the State in which such timber is found, for use within said States, shall not apply to the south slope of Tryon Mountain, in the state of Montana, lying south of the Crow Reservation, west of the Big Horn River, and east of Sage Creek; but, within the above-described boundaries, the provisions of said chapter shall apply equally to the residents of the States of Wyoming and Montana, and to the use of timber taken from the above-described tract in either of the above-named States."

Sec. 3900 provides for public or private sale of timber thus seized, when judgment is rendered for the state. Sec. 3901 provides that the prosecuting attorney of the circuit must prosecute such suits for the state. Sec. 3902 provides that the proceeds of such sales shall be distributed as follows: If the timber inspector furnishes the information, 40 per cent shall go to the inspector, 10 per cent to the prosecuting attorney, and 50 per cent to the state treasury. If an outsider furnishes the information, 25 per cent shall go to the inspector, 15 per cent to the informant, 10 per cent to the attorney, and 50 per cent to the state. NOTE.—The greater part of the provisions of Laws of 1897, Chap. 8, relating to fish and game and the office of commissioner of forests, fish, and game, was superseded by Laws of 1899, Chap. 98, which creates the department of fish and game. This act reenacts substantially all the provisions of the law of 1897, relating to fish and game, with many new provisions, but leaves out the forestal provisions, except a section against fire (Sec. 14, see Chap. IV A of this bulletin, page 145). It does not in terms repeal any provision of the law of 1897, and its provisions were here inserted because some doubt may exist whether they have been repealed or not.

REVISED STATUTES, CHAP. V.—Sec. 10. If any person unlawfully enters and trespasses upon the public lands, or upon any lands reserved for public uses, while under care of the (land) agent, and cuts, takes, or carries away any trees or grass upon said lands, he and all persons who furnish teams, implements or apparatus or supplies of provisions or of other articles, used in committing and carrying on such trespasses, are trespassers jointly and severally liable in damages for such trespasses, and they may be sued therefor in any county. The measure of damages is the highest price which such timber, logs, or other lumber, or hay, would bring at the usual place of sale thereof. Nothing in this section affects the right of the state to seize and sell any timber, logs, lumber or hay, cut as aforesaid. At such sale no person, who was in any way concerned in committing such trespass, or in supplying or aiding those who committed it, shall become a purchaser directly or indirectly.

These later sections of the Compiled Laws would seem practically to supersede Sections 1393 to 1397 inclusive quoted above, but since they are not so treated in the Compiled Laws of Michigan, they are not omitted here.

According to Sec. 11 of this act, "no timber shall ever be sold or disposed of unless the same is liable to waste."

Upon the acceptance by Cornell University of the provisions of this act, which acceptance in writing duly executed and acknowledged in the manner provided by law for the execution of written instruments by corporations, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state within ten days after the approval of this act, the trustees of Cornell University are authorized and empowered to create and establish a department in said University to be known as and called the New York State College of Forestry for the purpose of education and instruction in the principles and practice of scientific forestry.

Sec. 2. For the purposes of such school and for carrying out the objects of this act, the board of trustees of said University are hereby authorized and empowered, by and with the consent and approval, and under the direction of the forest preserve board of this state, to contract for the purchase of, and to purchase and to acquire by purchase title to not more than thirty thousand acres of land in the Adirondack forests. The University shall have the title, possession, management and control of such land, and by its board of trustees through the aforesaid college of forestry shall conduct upon said lands such experiments in forestry as it may deem most advantageous to the interests of the state and the advancement of the science of forestry, and may plant, raise, cut and sell timber at such times, of such species and quantities and in such manner, as it may deem best, with a view to obtaining and imparting knowledge concerning the scientific management and use of forests, their regulation and administration, the production, harvesting and reproduction of wood crops and earning a revenue therefrom, and to that end may constitute and appoint a faculty of such school, consisting of one director or professor, and two instructors, and may employ such forest manager, rangers and superintendents, and incur such other expenses in connection therewith, as may be necessary for the proper management and conduct of said college and the care of said lands, and for the purpose of this act, within the amount herein after appropriated.

Sec. 6. All moneys received by Cornell University from state appropriations for the said college shall be kept by said University in a separate fund from the moneys of the University, and shall be used exclusively for said college. Such moneys as may be appropriated to be paid to the Cornell University by the state in any year, to be expended by said University in the administration of said college, shall be payable to the treasurer of the Cornell University in three equal payments to be made on the first day of October, the first day of January and the first day of April in such year, and within thirty days after the expiration of the period for which each installment is received, the said University shall furnish the comptroller of the state of New York satisfactory vouchers for the expenditure of such installment. The said University shall expend such moneys and use such property of the state in administering said college and shall report to the legislature during the month of January in each year a detailed statement of such expenditures and of the general operations of the said college. Neither the board of trustees nor any member thereof shall receive any compensation for services under this act, but each such member is entitled to be repaid from the state treasury his actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of any duty imposed on him under this act by the trustees, or the forest preserve board, on like certificate of the forest preserve board to and on the audit and warrant of the comptroller.

Same.

Sec. 7. All sums received by the University from the sale of timber or otherwise, under this act, shall be deposited on the first day of each month to the credit of Cornell University in such bank or banks as may be designated by the comptroller for that purpose. Each bank so designated shall file with the comptroller a bond in an amount and on conditions approved by him. The treasurer of Cornell University shall on or before the fifth day of each month file with the state comptroller a verified statement showing the amount of money so received and deposited, when, from whom and for what received, and the day on which the deposit was made, and said statement shall have endorsed thereon a certificate of the proper officer of the bank that such deposit has been made. The money so deposited may be drawn by the treasurer on his check or draft countersigned by the comptroller for any amount included in an estimate approved as herein provided. The director of the

New York State College of Forestry of Cornell University shall on the first day of each month file with the comptroller an estimate and detailed statement of all moneys that will, in the judgment of such director be required in that month for the administration of the trust committed to Cornell University under this act in connection with the forest lands. The comptroller may revise and reduce the estimate and shall fix the amount which may be drawn thereon. At the end of the period for which the trustees of the Cornell University hold title to said forest lands they shall render a full account of said fund to the comptroller of the state of New York, and all balances, if any then remain, shall be paid over to the state treasurer.

Sec. 8. Subject only to the powers, duties and responsibilities vested in or imposed upon the trustees of the Cornell University by this act, and except as may be inconsistent with this act, and the objects and purposes herein provided for, the land so purchased shall be deemed to be and shall be regarded as a part of the forest preserve, so far as may be necessary for the protection of fish, game and forest as prescribed by the fish, game and forest law and the jurisdiction, supervision, powers, duties and responsibilities of the fish, game and forest commission, and of fish and game protectors and foresters, authorized by the fish and game and forest law except as may be inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall extend and apply to the land so purchased hereunder, for the purposes of this act.

Sec. 9. Upon and at the expiration of thirty years from and after the taking effect of this act, all lands and each and every part and parcel thereof, purchased by said University and paid for by the state under and pursuant to the provisions of this act, shall be by the board of trustees of said University or its successors, granted and conveyed to the people of the state of New York by a good and sufficient deed of conveyance, without further price and consideration therefor and the same shall thereupon be and become a part of the forest preserve. Nothing herein contained, however, shall be held or construed to render it obligatory upon the trustees to accept the provisions hereof.

NOTE 1.—Sec. 10 appropriates $10,000 for the support of the college. Further similar appropriations were made in subsequent years, but none in 1903 or 1904.

The failure to make appropriation in 1903 and 1904 does not repeal the above law but discontinues the college of forestry until such time as funds are made available either by the state or by private gifts.

NOTE 2.—General Laws, page 3634, sec. 44, provides that arbor day shall be the Friday following the first day of May. Sec. 45, that the authorities having control of schools in any city or district shall prescribe a proper observance of the day. Sec. 46, that the state superintendent of public instruction shall have general power to prescribe such exercises and publish instructions for the same. Sec. 47, that the legislature shall, annually, make an appropriation for such an observance.

NOTE 3.—For provision that the forest, fish and game commission must distribute tracts containing instructions in care of woodland and supply schools, academies and colleges with the means of instruction in forestry, see sec. 220 of the forest, fish and game law, in chap. II of this bulletin, page 64.
